provides emotional support. The Center trains team members from law enforcement; DCFS, State's Attorney's Office and other partners about child abuse and investigative techniques. Training allows multidisciplinary team members to develop and maintain specialized skills needed to better serve child abuse survivors and their families. Marcy said the Children's Advocacy Center staff are available to provide presentations to community orgainizations on topics related to the Children's Advocacy Center concept and child abuse awareness. These efforts increase the community's awareness of the prevalence of child abuse as well as how to identify and report abuse. She said increased awareness and reporting leads to more timely and successful intervention. Today she spent most of her time speaking of the Center's new Problematic Sexual Behavior Program. The program, one of just three in Illinois is the only PSB program offered outside the Chicago metropolitan area. The Center's staff running the program were all trained specifically in PSB at the University of Oklahoma. The purpose of the program is to identify and provide treatment for children displaying problematic sexual behavior. With proper treatment there is a 98% success rate in helping youngsters have a full and normal life with no further inappropriate sexual behavior issues. Marcy noted that some sexual exploration is normal and a part of early childhood. Often identified as "inappropriate behavior, most children when told what they are doing is not proper cease the behavior. Problematic behavior is when the acts do not stop, or are coerced, or involve a significant age difference between the instigator and victim. Marcy stated that the advent of the internet, cell phones, and computers have made pornography available to even preschool aged children. Sometimes they act out what they see. Once learning that the behavior is "bad" the majority of children learn the boundaries of appropriate behavior and have no real problem. For those who seem unable to discontinue or advance to more inappropriate behaviors, local treatment is now available. Ms. O'Brien stated that annually about 50 of their referrals involve a child initiator of inappropriate sexual behavior. She stated that the key to success of the new program is 1) Community involvement in reporting inappropriate behavior. 2) Parental/caretaker involvement. 3) Group Therapy. She stated that often the parents have a more traumatic reaction to the behavior than the child, fearing their child will have a recurring sexual behavior problem along with suffering embarrassment arising from the situation. Before entering the program, the Center's trained staff conducts an investigative interview with the child to determine if a problem exists. If it does the treatment program is an 18-week outpatient program designed to teach the child rules and boundaries of appropriate behavior and to help parents understand that with treatment their child will have a normal life with the chances of continuing inappropriate sexual behavior less than 2%. Group Therapy helps the child, and the parents understand that they are not alone and that there is light at the end of the tunnel. Thank you Marcy for a very informative and interesting program. Thank you also for bringing the PSB program to the Quad Cities!

ALARMING POLIO NEWS

An adult in the New York City metro area caught the Polio virus and suffered paralysis last month, the state's top health official said this week. The virus was traced to an overseas origin arising from vaccine using a weakened live polio virus. This form of vaccine has not been used in the United States for decades. Health officials subsequently found three positive polio samples in Rockland County wastewater and four positive samples in the sewage of adjacent Orange County. "These findings provide further evidence of local - not international — transmission of a polio virus that can cause paralysis and potential community spread, underscoring the urgency of every New York adult and child getting immunized," said New York state Health Commissioner Mary Bassett. "Based on earlier polio outbreaks, New Yorkers should know that for every one case of paralytic polio observed, there may be hundreds of other people infected," Bassett said. "Coupled with the latest wastewater findings, the department is treating the single case of polio as just the tip of the iceberg of much greater potential spread." The U.S. was declared polio free in 1979 and in the 42 years since those being routinely immunized against polio has declined. Rockland County has a polio vaccination rate of 60%, while Orange County has a vaccination rate of 58%, according to health officials. The statewide vaccination rate for polio in New York is not quite 79%. Approximately 93% of infants born in the United States receive polio inoculation. Those that decline vaccines based on religious objection are not vaccinated and those in the United States who were foreign born may be unvaccinated. Polio is a highly infectious, devastating virus that can cause paralysis. The virus struck fear into parents' hearts in the 1940s before vaccines were available. More than 35,000 people became paralyzed every year from polio during that period. But a successful vaccination campaign in the 1950s and 1960s dramatically reduced the number of cases.

FINES - HAPPY/SAD DOLLARS

Vice President Sue Rector had a good day levying fines and collecting happy/sad dollars. She began by fining herself for placing a flier promoting the CASI Golf Outing on our tables today. Then shamed Vice-President Eric Westphall into paying a fine for plugging the Bettendorf Rotary Golf Outing during his introduction of guests. Gary Rowe paid a double fine, one for an article that pointed out his absence from a school board meeting and the other for a front-page story and photo of his son in today's newspaper. Bud Phillis was fined for a recently printed letter to the editor in the Argus/Dispatch. Sue then noted a recent article about "Augustana Possible" and fine all connected with Augie. Those that paid were Sue, Doug Hultquist, Tom Hammar, Steven Nowinski, and Holly Sparkman. Then she noted that President Cindi was wearing a pink blazer and Mark Mayeski was wearing an "electric" pink shirt, so she fined everyone that was not wearing pink! Happy Dollars came from Doug Hultquist, Steve Morenz, and Anne McGlynn who will all be at the Field of Dreams game tonight. John Wetzel paid a happy dollar for Steve Morenz attending in person today. Rebecca Arnold paid a dollar for a story and photo in today's sports section that talked about her son as a key returning running back for the Rocks. Kathy Ruggeberg paid a happy dollar in honor of her dad, Jerry Taylor former publisher of the Dispatch/Argus who on Thursday will receive a prestigious award and be honored by the Illinois Press Association (IPA) at their annual Convention in Springfield. Molly Shattuck had a happy dollar for her son hitting three homeruns for his Little League team including a walk off game winner! Finally, Duncan Cameron offered a sad dollar for his beloved Milwaukee Brewers trading away "The best reliever in all of baseball," Josh Hader. Duncan lamented that the team has lost five of their last six games since trading Hader to the San Diego Padres. Cub and Cardinal fans could have added happy dollars celebrating the trade, but in deference to friend Duncan, allowed him to suffer without adding further insult to injury.

Earl Hanson Chess Club Brings Home the Gold!

For many years Rotarian Tom Hammar volunteered to teach the game of chess to students at Earl Hanson Elementary School. Eventually interest grew and the Earl Hanson Chess Club was formed, still coached by Tom. A few years ago, Tom recruited Rick Rector, Sue Rector's husband, also a chess buff to coach the kids. Rick has been a super coach and also was instrumental in obtaining a grant from our club to purchase a number of new Chess sets for the kids. This past weekend the Illowa chess club had a tournament. Rick invited the kids from Earl Hanson he has been working with to enter. One of our Earl Hanson "all stars" Oliver Cooley, finished 1st in his division. The picture shows Oliver proudly displaying his big trophy. He won using a checkmate move that Rick taught them last year. This is the 2nd student from the Rotary after school program that has been a winner at a sanctioned tournament playing against adults. The after-school Chess program is a super success for our club! Congratulations Oliver and coach Rick!

FOUNDATION MINUTE

Welcome to Week 2 of RI's Month of Membership & Extension.

In her maiden visit few days ago to Pakistan, home of over 400 Rotary Clubs, Jennifer Jones, the President of Rotary International, and former co-chair of End Polio Now, commended the country for its cooperation with Rotary, through its Foundation, in fighting Polio. She observed that while Rotary has contributed immensely to the eradication of poliomyelitis from much of the globe, Pakistan still remains one of two countries where the disease has yet to be completely exterminated. Yet, the country has been on the receiving end of TRF's largesse in the area of disease prevention and treatment.

For example, through TRF's Global Grants, the Pakistani clubs have provided ventilators, waste management system and are experimenting with mangrove plantation. Presenting the "Services to Humanity Award" to the Jang Group, an organization which has worked with Rotary in performing free heart surgeries to over 250 underprivileged children, Jones said that over 1.4 million Rotarians are doing their best to improve the quality of lives of the people in their communities. "Rotary's PolioPlus investment in Pakistan for polio eradication is $353.8 million and overall, its global contribution has been around $2.5 billion." Rotary, she said, is committed to keep contributing until the world becomes polio-free. "We are a united front in getting rid of polio," she said, adding that they need to make immunization workers safe in Pakistan. "We need to make sure that mothers who do door-to-door campaigns are safe," she stressed.

Quick Facts: Pakistan

ROCK ISLAND ROTARIANS HELPS ILLINOIS QUAD CITY ROTARY CLUB

Marcy O'Brien, our guest speaker today and Bill Abel who accompanied her, are members of the Illinois Quad City Rotary Club. They asked if they could bring along some raffle tickets their club is selling to raise money to purchase a badly needed refrigerator for World Relief Quad Cities. They hoped members of our club would join the effort. Needless to say, Rock Island Rotarians pitched in and purchased tickets. Although winning the raffle is not the principal motivation, the winner will receive a gift basket with $360 worth of gift cards to local business. Tickets were $5.00 each or 5 for $20.00.

FOUNDATION RAFFLE

Today's raffle featured a 50/50 cash drawing and a bottle of fine wine from the Grape Life. The first ticket drawn was held by Gary Rowe who took the cash and donated it back to our Club Foundation. The second winning ticket was held by Anne McGlynn who was happy to take home the wine. Proceeds from our weekly raffle drawings go to our Rotary Foundation Account and help to assist members in achieving their Paul Harris Fellow recognition. We thank all who participated!
